Gentlemen,

We are very much opposed to your proposed Red River Valley Water Supply Project. Your plan of pumping water from Minnesota is absurd! Why don't you look west to Garrison Dam and the irrigation project that was slated for the Devils Lake area until that region began having questions?

If you carry out your plan to pump water from west central Minnesota, what will this area do when droughts hit us? Our water supply comes from the rain! And furthermore why should Minnesota give our water away and pay for coal from North Dakota?

Please think this over carefully!

Sincerely,

Arnold M Rosen
